Attorneys For Peter Mortensen

"As it will be necessary for the de-fense to have a manuscript of the tes-timony," continued Mr. Stewart, "we ask that the hearing for a new trial be passed upon in this state, and we eve that we should have more time, would be seriously handicapped by lack of a transcript of the testily should we have to make our arients now."

Strict Attorney Eichnor made rathin impatient reply to the defendant's no make the motion. He is the motion. He is the motion is the saloon of the men knew the intruder, according to the statement of Campbell, but purchased several ranges of dishes.

District Attorney Eichnor made rather an impatient reply to the defendant's counsel, in resisting the motion. He said it would be only delaying matters the case went to the supreme court. The state was willing to accede to any reasonable continuance, he said, but there were other cases besides the Mortensen case, and to let it go over for months was, in his opinion, altogether out of the question.

Mr. Stewart said, in reply, that if the motion for a new trial is overruled the case will go to the supreme court any-

Answering a question by Judge Morse, Mr. Stewart said the defense had made no effort to get a transcript, or, at least, had not ordered one, as Mortensen's father and brother had no Mortensen's father and brother had no property, and rather than put the state to any additional expense they preferred to take time to raise means. Court Reporter Davis said it would take weapon placed against him. him about a week to transcribe the tes-timony. Judge Morse then said: "The hearing upon the motion for a new trial will be postponed until Fri-day, July 11, at 10 a. m., and if at that time proper reasons for a further post-ponement shall be apparent, the court will consider them. The time for passing sentence in this case is postponed until Saturday, July 12."

District Attorney Eichnor was granted the privilege of filing counter affidavits to the motion for a new trial, and vits to the motion for a new trial, and the case was closed.

The crowd, disappointed, rushed into the hall to catch another glimpse of Mortensen, but without any delay he was dropped to the lower floor in the elevator and taken back to the county jail by the sheriff.

DEATH SENTENCE Charles Warrick Said to Have Shot at a Street Car Conductor.

After twenty-four hours of diligent search on the part of the police officers. Charles Warrick, a barber, was arrested last night and charged with assault with a deadly weapon. The charge will likely be changed to that of assault with intent to kill.

Warrick, so the police assert, is responsible for the panic which brought on a reign of hysteria among the women passengers of a Calder's park car Friday night when a conductor ejected a man from the car on account of his objectionable conduct. The fellow branded the car at the park and at once began to create as much disturbance as possible. He is said to have been in a state of intoxication, and by his talk and conduct became a nulsance to the other passengers. At Seventh East and Eighth South streets he was thrown from the car by the conductor, but his attorneys secured a postponement of the hearing for a rew trial until next Friday, and Saturday was set for the date of sentence. Judge Morse indicated his readiness to grant a further continuance on Friday if good cause was shown.

Mortensen was dressed in the same suit of black that he wore through the trial, and there was little if any change in his appearance or demisance since the day the jury found him guility. As soon as Judge Morse called the case of the state vs. Mortensen, Attorney Barnard J. Stewart asked that the sentence of the defendant be postponed until the arguments on the motion for a new trial could be heard and passed upon by the court.

SUPREME COURT OPINION.

Two Decisions of the Lower Court Are Affirmed.

Justice Miner of the supreme court yesterday handed down two opinions, one affirming the decision of the lower courts in the case of Seward H. Fields, trustee, and Bank of Commerce of Salt Lake, appellants, vs. the Daisy Gold Mining company and the Salt Lake Hardware company; and the other affirming the decision of the district court in the case of Bank of Commerce vs. the Salt Lake Hardware company. Both cases are the outcome of a judgment of the district court, awarding Justice Miner of the supreme court

Both cases are the outcome of a judgment of the district court, awarding the Salt Lake Hardware company a prior lien on the property of the Daisy Gold Mining company, securing the payment of an account amounting to $2,101.94 for materials and goods furnished the mining company by the hardware concern.

The Daisy Gold Mining company borrowed $15,000 from the Bank of Commerce, and to secure it, executed a deed of trust for the amount. It was part of this money that was paid the hardware company, leaving a balance as sued for. When the deed of trust was foreclosed, the bank contended that its lien, conveyed by the deed of trust, was superior to the statutory lier in favor of the hardware company.
